

BIO for TARA 2011

Dr Farah Sarraj has a PhD in English Literature from the University of Manchester and a PGCE from Brunel University. She currently holds the position of Director of Academic Affairs at the Damascus Independent Academy, where she is also a founding member. Prior to that, she was Language Programme Coordinator at the King Fahad Academy in London. Dr Sarraj has launched many initiatives that aim to support the teaching of bilingual, Arabic and English, programmes. She has lead workshops on the improvement of Arabic pedagogy and continues to support the development of Arabic language teaching so that it can meet the needs of Arab students living in the 21st century.